INFORMATION REGARDING RULE OF PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT 6.1
(MANDATORY PRO BONO SERVICES REPORTING)

What are your responsibilities under Rule of Professional Conduct 6.1?
You must annually report whether you provided pro bono publico services (or contributed funds) as defined by RPC 6.1. The Rule does not make pro bono itself or financial contributions mandatory, only the reporting thereof. However, the Rule strongly advocates these activities as aspirational goals of all attorneys and the Nevada Supreme Court Access to Justice Commission challenges all Nevada’s lawyers to show those less fortunate we care by donating of your time and resources. Your skills and resources can and will change lives.

Don’t forget the Rule also includes activities beyond taking a case or giving money, for example law-related education; activities for improving the law and the legal profession; or presenting for an approved education program sponsored by the state or a county bar or a Nevada court.

How can you help?
To assist those most in need of your help, consider taking pro bono cases from (or make a financial contribution to) a legal service provider in your area:
