We all travel on business and pleasure, and while on the road we check our e-mails and respond to phone calls. Many lawyers blog, tweet, use Facebook and LinkedIn, and have nice websites, all in an effort to build a “brand” as a lawyer. Have the Nevada Rules of Professional Conduct kept up with what we all do every day in our practices?

Nationally-known speaker Mike Rubin will take us through a fast-paced series of issues and hypotheticals with the most unusual Power-Point presentation you’ve ever seen. You won’t need caffeine to stay awake for this talk!

MICHAEL H. RUBIN is one of the leaders of the multi-state law firm of McGlinchey Stafford PLLC. For more than three decades, in addition to the full-time practice of law, where he heads his firm’s appellate practice team and handles major commercial litigation cases, he also has served as an Adjunct Professor teaching courses in finance, real estate and advanced legal ethics at the law schools at Louisiana State University, Tulane and Southern University. His appellate work has included handling corporate, business and finance cases of national importance. He is an author, co-author, and contributing writer of 13 books and more than 30 articles. His latest book, on Louisiana finance, is “LOUISIANA SECURITY DEVICES, A PRÉCIS” (Lexis/Nexis, 2011).
